

Report: Operation Black Dragon - 02-08-2002

Mission Classification: Delta III - Escort

Briefing:

Our mission is to escort a shuttle from the diplomatic reception on Earth back to the Assault Frigate Serapis near the edge of Goa'uld space.

We will depart Farpoint base and head for Earth, where we will rendezvous with the shuttle Eta Seven.

We will escort the shuttle to the Serapis, a short hyperjump away.

Once the shuttle is docked, we will see the Serapis safely into hyperspace.

When the mission is complete we will return to Farpoint.

Mission Status: Complete

Injuries to Personnel/Equipment:

Jenna - KIA

1 T-65C A2 X-Wing Space Superiority Fighter - Destroyed

Superficial damage to Thorn's X-Wing

Report:

Well, we started out almost on time, a new record for RS chat missions.

We left Farpoint with 8 X-Wings and arrived at Earth with only 7.

Jenna had rammed her ship into some asteroid or other. I'm still grieving over the loss of the ship - note I said ship.

We located the shuttle and formed up, but we were intercepted by some unknown alien craft.

We managed to fight our way though and jump to hyperspace.

When we came out, we found that the Serapis was under Goa'uld attack.

A volley of proton torpedoes dealt with the shields and a few more and some strafing runs split the ship in two.

Assisted by the Serapis's fighter squadron we dealt with the rest of the Death Gliders.

Once we mopped up what was left, the Assault Frigate recovered her fighters and jumped to hyperspace.

We reformed and headed back to Farpoint.

Acid had a little Skittle incident, but other than that, mission successful.